

ATIRA LONIGRO

Facilitator

Atira Lonigro (she/her) BSW, RSW has been responding to disclosures of sexual violence since 2017 while providing children's education at the Saskatoon Sexual Assault and Information Centre. After moving back to Calgary, Atira focused her work as a community resource advocate where she strived to build connections with community members and provided referrals for basic needs support and social programs across the city. Since completing her Bachelor of Social Work from the University of Calgary in 2021, Atira has been working in the sexual violence sector as an Educator and Trainer at Calgary Communities Against Sexual Abuse (CCASA). Through this position, she had the opportunity to work with people across the lifespan by engaging them in conversations about sexual violence and its impacts, while also creating safe spaces to learn skills and tools on how to create communities free of sexual violence.
